

Geneseo, IL - - In February 2010, ArmaLite announced the return of its popular Hog Gun, the AR-10(T) Carbine. Within 10 days every one of them was gone. Now, nine months later, IT'S BACK, it's in stock, and you can have one for this year's hunting season.

But if you want one, don't wait. This finely crafted weapon has been produced once again in a small batch. Quantities are limited and will not last long.

"This AR-10(T) Carbine combines the light weight and compact size of the carbine with the accuracy of the Target Model to give you a rifle that outperforms all other carbines. You will be ready on your next hunt with the easy carry and weather resistant stainless steel barrel chambered in 7.62 NATO." says Tacticle-Life.com.
